WHO WANTS TO RUN OUR SERVICES?

CONTROVERSIAL plans to offload seven of Harlow Council's most popular services gathered pace this week as the authority put contracts for the museum and Pets' Corner out to tender.

Adverts have been placed in the Official Journal of the European Union giving interested parties until next month to register expressions of interest in running the services.

Similar notices are expected to follow soon for other top attractions including The Playhouse, Gibberd Gallery and Parndon Wood Nature Reserve.

The council is inviting offers from the private, public and voluntary sectors. In the case of the museum it will consider proposals that treat the existing facility in Muskhams Road and its services as "separate entities".

It hopes to attract enough interest to short-list between three and five organisations for each service by the end of November, when more detailed negotiations will take place.

If successful bidders are then found, the contracts will be in place to start from April 1 next year. But it remains unclear what will happen to the service if no deal has been struck by the deadline.

Joel Charles, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for community and citizenship, said the "number one priority" was to secure the long-term future of the town's discretionary services.

He told the Star: "The council said at the outset of offering its discretionary services that tough budget decisions could not be avoided if new service providers cannot be found, but the level of interest we have received makes us confident that such decisions can be avoided."

"Informal discussions have taken place between officers and organisations and we are hopeful this will lead

Halfon in favour of boundary shake-up

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor

chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

PLANS to reshape the Harlow parliamentary constituency by bringing in thousands of extra voters have been welcomed by MP Robert Halfon.

The proposals from the Boundary Commission would see the existing electoral boundary expand eastwards to swallow up Hatfield Heath, Hatfield Broad Oak, the Hallingburys and the Rodings.

It would bring an extra 5,523 voters into the constituency as part of the Government's plan to redraw the political map of Britain by reducing the number of MPs by 50 to 600 and standardising the size of each seat.

Mr Halfon told the Star the boundary shake-up would save millions of pounds and signalled a move towards "fairer" politics.

"I'm glad that the plans keep the Harlow seat entirely within Essex and the rural areas proposed will make a beautiful addition to the constituency," he said.

"Critics of these plans may claim they are designed to make it easier for Conservative candidates but I would point out that the existing system is undoubtedly weighted in favour of Labour.

"Let's not forget that the Boundary Commission is completely independent, and there are in fact a large number of Tory MPs who stand to lose their seats in this shake-up."

He added it would make the system fairer by making each constituency roughly the same size in terms of voter numbers while cutting the number of MPs to reduce the burden on taxpayers.

But former Harlow Labour MP Bill Rammell blasted the plans and rejected Mr Halfon's assertion that the existing boundary system is biased towards Labour.

"These proposals are totally flawed and their sole aim is to increase the number of Tory seats at the expense of other parties," he said.

"If approved, the Harlow constituency would stretch all the way from Nazeing to Hatfield Heath and The Rodings. There is absolutely no historical or geographical logic to these plans.

"But it's important to remember these proposals are not a done deal and I would urge voters to make their voices heard on this issue by responding to the public consultation."

To have your say on the proposed changes, visit the website at www.boundarycommission-forengland.independent.gov.uk.

Coaster 'cutie' Sarah is a calendar girl

A GLAMOUROUS thrillseeker has become one of the faces of a top theme park's hair-raising new rollercoaster ride.

Sarah Humphreys (18), of Felmongers, Harlow, saw off competition from hundreds of young women across the UK to become an Alton Towers 'Coaster Cutie', featuring in a calendar inspired by TH13TEEN – the world's first free-falling rollercoaster.

Having impressed the judging panel, Sarah was invited to join her fellow 'cuties' at the theme park in Staffordshire for the calendar photoshoot on board the white-knuckle ride.

Sarah said afterwards: "I've been a fan of rollercoasters for as long as I can remember and I'm so happy to have been selected as an official face of TH13TEEN!"

"When I got the call I was so excited and couldn't wait to meet my fellow thrill seekers. She added: "Discovering that nearly 1,000 girls from across the country had entered the search made it even more exciting to be picked!"

Opponents of waste transfer plant plans win council support

A HEATED discussion between Harlow councillors ended in an agreement to oppose Essex County Council's plans to build a new waste transfer station in the town.

Following criticism of the plans by residents and business owners in the vicinity of the proposed site at Templefields, Harlow Council's development management committee was asked to act as a statutory consultee and report its views back to the county council.

During the meeting last Wednesday, councillors questioned assurances by developers AMEC that concerns over increased noise, smell, pollution and vermin were unfounded.

Committee members also highlighted the possibility of increased traffic and congestion.

"We all know about the traffic problems that already exist in the area and have all spent years and years suffering, so why go and add to that?" councillor Paul Schroder told the meeting.

The committee further questioned why an alternative location for the new waste transfer station – on a site near North Weald airfield – had been rejected and called for the county council to reconsider that option before a final decision was made.

If the plans are approved it will mean 57,000 tonnes of household waste from Harlow and Epping will be transferred to the site a year, requiring almost 100 extra vehicle trips through the town every day.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon welcomed the council's stance and said it was increasingly clear that the proposed site was the wrong location.

"The extra traffic will overload Edinburgh Way, and the site is the wrong end of Harlow," he said.

"On top of that, many parents are worried, as Tany's Dell Primary School is very close to the planned site, and there is likely to be a damaging impact on local residents and small businesses."

Road safety crackdown

POLICE carrying a road safety operation at the M11 junction near Harlow on Monday issued fixed penalty notices to 47 drivers caught using mobile phones.

A further 11 notices were issued to drivers for not wearing seatbelts, 14 for speeding, two for driving licence offences and three for having vehicles with illegally tinted windows.

Mike's charity quest to scale three peaks

A KEEN mountain climber is preparing tackle his biggest challenge yet to raise money for the charity that has supported his deaf blind son.

Mike Fullick (42), of Broadway Avenue, Harlow, will be climbing the three highest peaks in England, Scotland and Wales in just 24 hours to raise money for national charity Sense.

The organisation has supported Mike's family ever since his son Rhys (13) was diagnosed with Norrie Syndrome, a rare genetic condition that means he is completely blind and has a partial hearing loss.

"Sense has been there for us ever since we found out about Rhys' condition," said Mike. "As well as supporting us as parents, they have been great at arranging events and holidays throughout his life for both him and his sister Amber, as they make a real point of involving siblings with the activities too.

"Luckily Rhys isn't as disabled as a lot of children with this condition and hasn't been too much work for us, but Sense do a fantastic job for people who suffer deaf blindness and it would be nice to give something back."

During his Three Peaks Challenge, which takes place this weekend, Mike will have to reach the top of Ben Nevis (1,244 metres), Scafell Pike (978 metres) and Snowdon (1,085 metres).

"I feel fit enough and determined enough to take on the challenge," he said. "I know it won't be easy, especially climbing during the night, but I've been training hard and I am confident I'll complete the trek.

"My only worry is the weather conditions but I'll just have to keep my fingers crossed for that."

He added: "I am just excited about reaching the top of those peaks now and hope that by doing so I not only raise a really good amount for Sense, but also raise awareness about the fantastic work they do for families affected by deaf blindness."

Firewalking feat in aid of hospital's scanner appeal

HERE WE GLOW: Fundraisers will be holding a firewalk in Harlow next week

FUNDRAISERS for the intensive care unit at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital are turning up the heat by asking people to take part in a firewalk.

The test of nerves being organised by Harlow LighterLife counsellor Janette Humpreys is raising money to buy a specialist internal organ scanner.

"The intensive care department at PAH wants to buy its own echo machine but need to raise £30,000 to do so," said Janette.

"I wanted to help with fundraising because somebody I love once had to use that machine and it really helped them to be diagnosed and get the right treatment quickly.

"My work is all about encouraging people to push their boundaries so I thought a firewalk would really relate to that, as well as being something very different for Harlow."

The Dare to Care firewalk is scheduled to take place next Friday (September 23) at the Paringdon Sports Centre from 6pm. Participants will receive an hour of training before attempting to cross the burning embers.

Janette, who will be tackling the challenge herself, said: "Whether you are brave enough to take on the walk or want to come down to support someone else, it should be a really fun, different night.

"All we are asking is that people aim to raise £100 in sponsorship, but really whatever they can. It will all go to a very good cause.

"We just want as many as possible to take up this unique opportunity to help raise as much as possible."

For more details about the firewalk, contact Janette on (01279) 841478 or visit www.justgiving.com/firewalk-PAH.

GSK gets set for 6,000 drug tests during Olympics

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

SCIENTISTS working at the Harlow laboratories of pharmaceuticals giant GlaxoSmith-Kline will be tasked with catching out drug cheats at next year's London Olympics.

The company's sprawling research and development centre at Pinnacles will be used as the Games' anti-doping hub where teams from King's College London will work around the clock to ensure athletes are competing fairly.

GSK's own research and development staff may also be seconded to work on the project which will see up to 6,000 drug tests carried out during the course of the Games.

Pauline Williams, of GlaxoSmith-Kline UK R&D, said: "As a British company we are immensely proud to be making a material contribution to London 2012 by providing a state-of-the-art laboratory at our Harlow R&D facilities.

"At GSK we run world-class research and development facilities across the world. This gives us the expertise to work with King's College London to deliver a 24-hour laboratory with the capacity to carry out over 6,000 tests, more than any previous Olympic and Paralympic Games."

Every competitor who steps on to the winners' podium will be tested, along with thousands more athletes selected at random from those participating in both the Olympics and Paralympics.

Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson said: "I am very proud that Harlow will be playing its part in ensuring athletes are competing fairly in the world's biggest sporting competition.

"GSK have some of the best research and development facilities in the world and this will once again help recognise that Harlow is ahead of the field in terms of advanced medical and technological industries."

Man admits throwing punch that left victim with bleed on the brain

A MAN who threw a single punch which knocked another man to the ground and left him with a bleed in the brain has been jailed for a year.

Jay Michael (29), of The Dashes, Harlow, was told by a judge he was lucky he was not facing a more serious charge.

Michael pleaded guilty to wounding Martin Burton in the early hours of April 30.

Richard Scott, prosecuting at Chelmsford Crown Court, said the incident was captured on CCTV cameras as a group of people, including Michael, walked past Mr Burton in Terminus Street.

"The defendant doubled back and hit him once," said Mr Scott. "He fell to the floor unconscious before the crowd walked off."

"Mr Burton, who was placed in a recovery position by a passer-by, was taken to hospital where it was found he had a bleed on the brain. No surgery was required after the bleeding stopped and he was discharged on May 3."

Jodie Hitchcock, representing Michael, said in mitigation he had been to a nightclub but was not drunk and earlier in the evening had acted as a peacemaker in a separate incident.

Referring to the punch, she said: "It was not premeditated or a sustained attack. As Michael walked past something was said to cause him and his friends to make them turn back."

"Mr Burton was told to shut up, there was further discussion and he was punched."

Passing sentence, judge Rodger Hayward Smith told Michael: "Somebody who punches somebody and causes bleeding on the brain can't reasonably receive anything other than a prison sentence."

"You're very lucky you're not facing a much more serious charge."

Games theme to town walks

WITH less than a year to go to the London Olympics, Harlow Council is inviting residents to take part in its 'Walking Your Way To The Games' initiative.

The project comprises a series of five colour-coded walks representing the Olympic rings and ranging in distance from 2-10 miles.

Each route has been designed to give a different perspective of the town and everyone finishing a walk will receive a London 2012 badge in the colour of the route they have completed.

The first two-mile walk sets off from Parndon Wood Road on Saturday at 1pm. Participants are advised to arrive at least 10 minutes before the start.

As both a driver and cyclist I have learnt to be tolerant

SIR, In my recent letter I posed a simple question about Gilden Way and what I consider to be an inappropriate speed limit.

As yet there has been no answers, only opinions – opinions about speed limits and opinions about cyclists.

As a driver of long-standing as well as a cyclist I have learnt to be tolerant of other road users. After all, a few seconds waiting behind a cyclist toiling into a headwind on a rainy morning whilst you are sitting in your car listening to your favourite DJ can soon be regained and you'll be on the back of the queue again in no time.

I must say, though, that my tolerance is tested by males on bikes – yes it's usually males – who ride after dark without lights and/or ride on the footpath, often at a furious rate.

But when all is said and done, cycling is such a wonderful way of transporting yourself, whatever the purpose of the journey, that forgiveness of impatient motorists and suicidal cyclists soon takes hold and enjoyment takes over.

And I would still like to know why Gilden Way has such a high speed limit.

John Curry
Old Orchard, Harlow

SIR, I entirely support John Curry's proposal for a 40mph speed limit on Gilden Way.

I have lived in Old Harlow for 35 years and use Gilden Way as a cyclist, pedestrian and a motorist. There have been several fatal accidents on this road to my knowledge, usually involving pedestrians or cyclists.

Your correspondents who say cyclists should use cycle tracks should be aware that SIR, Further to the letter headlined "Cyclists should be using cycle paths" I have attached just one example of why cyclists have difficulty using the paths.

This is in addition to broken glass and mums walkin side-by-side with pushchairs who insist on using the cycle tracks rather than the footpaths.

Name and address supplied - Editor there is no cycle track extending out towards Sheering and cyclists going in that direction must use Gilden Way or take a lengthy diversion.

On the eastern half of Gilden Way there is not even a pavement for pedestrians, despite the fact that the road links Old Harlow to the Gibberd Garden, a farm shop and a number of private houses. Pedestrians must either stumble along the grass verge or walk in the road.

Gilden Way is in a built-up area and inevitably used and crossed by pedestrians and cyclists frequently. Motorists need to recognise that, apart from when they are on a motorway, they need to share the road space with cyclists, pedestrians and equestrians. Until Gilden Way is made safer by the construction of cycle and footpaths, it should have a speed limit lower than 60mph.

John Warren
Watlington Road, Harlow

SIR, I was somewhat taken aback by the hysteria caused by the suggestion of a 40mph speed limit for Gilden Way. With its midway roundabout, its junction and its pedestrian-controlled traffic lights, you've got to be pretty determined and lucky with the traffic, even to reach the current limit of 60mph before having to slow down again.

You've also got to be wealthy enough not to worry about your petrol consumption! As someone who frequently drives along Gilden Way, and in the interests of scientific enquiry, I carried out a test. From the London Road roundabout, Mayfields Farm takes less than a half-minute longer at a maximum of 40mph.

What would I do with that half minute? Run a quarter of a mile perhaps? Perhaps not.

Frank Brown
Herons Wood, Harlow

SIR, As a cyclist who rides across town from Staple Tye to Templefields most days, I don't think that I reduce the speed of motorists.

I wear a high visibility waistcoat to be seen and in the darker mornings I have lights also.

Cyclists get a bad press for using footpaths but have you tried cycling using cycle track? It is almost impossible without coming across mothers with prams, people walking their dogs with the lead stretching across the track and couples young and old using them as footpaths. Maybe when the council gets round to refurbishing the cycle tracks it should just make them flat surfaces with the markings denoting footpath and cycleway like it has done in other parts of the town.

Even on the wider stretches of roads it amazes me how close some drivers get to cyclists.

Punishment does not fit the crime

SIR, During the recent riots a young man walked into a shop that had already been looted and helped himself to a single ice cream. For this he was given a 16-month jail sentence for this.

In last week's Star there was a story about two young men who mugged another at knife-point. All they received was a suspended sentence and some community service.

Apparently the judge thought imprisoning the muggers would be a bad idea as they both had "suicidal tendencies".

So the message to Harlow yobs is clear – attack and mug who you like and when you're caught blame an emotional problem or two and there's a great chance the bleeding heart judge will just pat you on the head and send you on your way.

The law is supposed to protect the innocent, not the guilty. If the two muggers are arrested again for the same crime (or worse), I hope the judge who let them loose on society is disbarred.

Stop running the town on the cheap

SIR, I am in favour of the efficient use of council taxpayers' cash and some good things are happening in the town.

But paddling pools, Pets' Corner, The Playhouse, Harlow Museum and suppose things like Town Park maintenance, the Leah Manning Centre and local common rooms are all up for grabs. If the council is to save money, it implies there will be some form of charging and/or change of use of these minority civic facilities.

Council leader Andrew Johnson, in the latest edition of the council's magazine, says "... the hard reality is that we can't afford to fund these operations anymore."

To be fair, he and his party are not alone in creating this problem. In Harlow, as in the country, the big lie is that the only way to balance a budget is to cut expenditure. In reality this is only part of the solution; one can also try to increase income.

However, we citizens are not offered this as a possibility because each of the political parties is hellbent in a competition to keep council taxes down.

Harlow's share of the council tax bill only represents 16 per cent of the total. Even a less than 10p in the pound increase in the overall rate would have been virtually unnoticed by the majority of taxpayers. It would also have yielded enough to keep funding some of the facilities which made Harlow a town to be proud of.

But all our local political parties are engaged in running the town on the cheap. Sadly, they are all we have to vote for so I suppose we get the town we deserve.

My fear for future of these services

SIR, Several commentators on the future of the discretionary services have said they are being sold off. They are not being sold, they are being given away along with £1m to assist the new organisations in running them.

At the recent meeting of Harlow Council's select committee, councillors were assured that any organisation wishing to run these services would need to provide a sound business plan. When I asked what would happen if they failed after a few years, I was told no-one could predict the future. It was also not made clear at the meeting that museum services and premises would be dealt with separately.

I realise that there is a need to find new ways of running these services but I fear for the future of them, particularly The Playhouse.

Councillor Edna Stevens (Labour)

MP showing signs of Jekyll and Hyde

SIR, I have been following the correspondence about the behaviour of our MP Robert Halfon.

First we have him hosting a reception in London for the US Tea Party movement that believes in little or no government. Yet then we find him appealing for the reversal of the privatisation of old people's homes by Conservative-controlled Essex County Council.

Mr Halfon votes in Parliament for a hike in VAT to 20 per cent which fundamentally changed petrol prices, while at the same time he protests about the rise in petrol prices and petitions against this.

Further we have Mr Halfon saying he is against the Gilden Way development yet he is preparing to vote in Parliament for changes in local planning laws that no lesser organisation than the National Trust believes will see local authorities having to allow up to 20 per cent development in the Green Belt in the future.

So is a local Mr Hyde Halfon or a national Dr Robert Jekyll representing Harlow, trying to be all things to all local people while sucking up to his Conservative central office?

Bus changes will leave me isolated

SIR, I recently picked up a new bus timetable to see what bus was going to service the Long Ley area of Harlow. To my dismay I could only see one bus – the 541 – which only runs once an hour.

The 541 starts at Harlow bus station and goes through to Loughton bus station. This is absurd. May I ask why, when we had the number 6 bus running past Long Ley every 12 minutes, we now have one every hour?

It will be a miracle when the bad weather arrives if the 541 service gets from Loughton to Harlow on time. The Epping road is very busy and no bus will run on time, especially in the rush hour.

That would mean those of us at the Long Ley bus stops waiting for a bus in the pouring rain or even snow will be left stranded.

Long Ley is situated off Maddox Road. Looking at the timetable I see there is a bus that comes halfway down Maddox Road and then turns right and goes down to Second Avenue. I was told this is where we can pick up a bus to take us into town.

If I did not go into the town to get my shopping at least twice a week and I was a much younger person who had the ability to carry it, this may be feasible. But I am not. I must also stress there are many retired people in Long Ley in the same boat as myself. What are we supposed to do?

I like going into town; it gets me out of the house and I meet my neighbours at the bus stop. By only having this one bus servicing Long Ley will leave me feeling very isolated and I wonder how on earth am I going to feel in the winter.

Can Arriva can give a reason for this change as I, for one, am at a loss.

Show of support for lawlessness

SIR, On Saturday some Harlow councillors and Labour Party activists took themselves off to Dale Farm in support of the anarchy on show at the illegal travellers site.

How comforting for the residents of Harlow to know that if this same scenario was to occur in or about our town, our elected socialist councillors would override the objections of the indigenous council tax payers in favour of lawlessness and public disorder.

Bryan Leach

Where is the pride in place we live?

SIR, I am fed up with the amount of rubbish that people throw all around the town.

Where I live in Fennells I frequently pick up rubbish and phone the council to pick up bags of rubbish that are just dumped on the pavement.

People do not seem to have any pride in where they live.

Expenses cheat peer out of jail

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE disgraced former leader of Essex County Council jailed for fiddling his Parliamentary expenses has been released from prison after serving just a quarter of his sentence.

Lord Hanningfield, who was tried under his real name of Paul White, was jailed for nine months after claiming more than £13,000 of taxpayers' money.

He has been freed under an early release scheme and will now spend the rest of his sentence electronically tagged and under curfew at his home near Chelmsford.

Matthew Elliott, chief executive of the Taxpayers' Alliance, branded his release an "insult" to the public.

"Lord Hanningfield stole a huge amount of taxpayers' money and his and other cases damaged the public's confidence in Parliament and our elected representatives," he said.

"It's a further insult to the public that he has been let out so soon after committing such serious crimes. MPs and peers are not above the law; these early releases send out all the wrong messages."

During the trial of the Tory peer the court was told he claimed for overnight stays in London when he was not even in the capital, including one occasion in February 2008 when he was actually on board a flight to India.

He also claimed £382 in train fares and £147 in mileage by doubling the seven-mile distance from his home to the railway station.

He told the jury he treated his expenses for staying overnight in London as an allowance for living outside the capital and spent just "a minute a month" completing his claim forms.

He said most peers treated the House of Lords as a "club", turning up for only 10 minutes to claim their daily allowance.

Insisting his Parliamentary duties left him thousands of pounds out of pocket, he told the court he "averaged out" his claims to recoup some of the money he spent.

Hanningfield, who lost an appeal against his conviction, was later kicked off the county council.

Mum's disgust at sentence for man who grabbed girl

THE mother of a young girl grabbed by a man who thought she was one of a group of children who had been causing a nuisance said she was "disgusted" he had not been sent to jail.

The mum, who cannot be named for legal reasons, was speaking after Alan Howorth (62) was ordered to carry out 120 hours of unpaid work and attend an alcohol and drug rehabilitation centre.

Howorth, now living in Guilfords, Old Harlow, pleaded guilty to a charge of taking a child so as to remove her from her mother's control under the Child Abduction Act.

Speaking after the conclusion of the case at Chelmsford Crown Court, the mother said: "I'm disgusted with it. I'm not happy with the outcome. My daughter is still not over this a year later."

Richard Scott, prosecuting, said the incident occurred in September last year in the Barmead area when the girl had gone out to play after school. She met up with a friend – a boy aged 11 – and they decided to call on another friend who lived in the same block of flats as the defendant.

"Having knocked for her friend who was not allowed out, the girl went back down from the first floor to the ground floor where Howorth lived," he told the court.

"As she went round the corner she was grabbed by him and she cried out for help. Coming to her rescue, the 11-year-old pulled her hand to get her away and they left the building and told the girl's mother what happened.

"She then went to confront Howorth, a well-known local character, and found him lying in the lobby of the flats. Believing he was drunk, she left him alone."

She reported the incident to police who went to Howorth's address and found him collapsed by the door inside. After five minutes he was able to get up and let them in.

Alex Woods, representing Howorth, said in mitigation his client mistakenly believed the girl was one of a group of children who had been causing a nuisance.

Passing sentence, judge Rodger Hayward Smith said Howorth had no previous convictions for any sexual behaviour and all the evidence pointed to him being a "thorough nuisance".

"I understand the mother's position and concerns but I can only speculate what might have happened if the boy hadn't come to the girl's rescue. I can only sentence on what happened."

He told Howorth, who was also banned from returning to the area where the incident happened: "This must never happen again. What you did caused the mother and child great anguish."

Sports club presented with five wheelchairs

HARLOW could soon have its own youth wheelchair basketball team thanks to the generosity of a sports and disability charity.

The town's All Ability Sports & Leisure Club, based at Mark Hall Sports Centre, has been given five new sports wheelchairs by The Lord's Taverners.

They will be used on a weekly basis for basketball training and other multi-sports activities.

The charity has worked closely with wheelchair manufacturers R&G to develop the high-quality sports wheelchairs, which are suitable for all aspiring young athletes and cost around £1,500 each.

Matthew Patten, chief executive of The Lord's Taverners, said: "These new sports wheelchairs will enable more young people at the club to develop their skills and grow in confidence. We are proud to support the All Ability Sports and Leisure Club."

Weekend of outdoor pursuits

PEOPLE who enjoy spending their leisure time outside are being invited to see what's on offer at an outdoor pursuits centre.

Redricks Lakes, which is holding a two-day open event this weekend, boasts a fully licensed open water swimming circuit, a 5km cross country running track and a 2.5km mountain bike trail.

Visitors to the site in Redricks

Lane, Sawbridgeworth, can take part in activities including open water swimming, clay pigeon shooting, paddleboarding and kayaking, while for anglers there is a 24-hour fishing match on the venue's specimen carp lake.

Campers will be able to pitch up for the weekend, and a barbecue, live music and Sunday wedding fair are also planned.

to some firm offers." But Mark Wilkinson, leader of the Labour group, accused the Tory-run administration of failing to properly consult on the plans.

"These services play an important part in our community life and it is worrying that the Tory-led council is selling it off without a proper consultation process with local people," he said.

"Let's be clear, this outsourcing is a direct result of Government cuts that go too far, too fast."

He said Labour opposed the selling off of the council's assets and called on the administration to only consider bids from not-for-profit organisations.

"There is a clear intention to rush through a fundamental change before the next election, which could well see the Tory's lose control of the council," he added.

Whiskers LLP secures Law Society's new quality mark

Local Solicitors Whiskers LLP has secured membership to the Law Society's Conveyancing Quality Scheme - the mark of excellence for the home buying process.

Whiskers LLP underwent rigorous assessment by the Law Society in order to secure CQS status, which marks the firm out as meeting high standards in the residential conveyancing process.

Law Society President John Wotton said that the Law Society introduced CQS to promote high standards in the home buying process.

"Buying a home is one of the largest purchases anyone will make in their lifetime, so it is essential that it is done to the highest standard by a solicitor. There are many different conveyancing service providers out there, making it difficult for home buyers to identify those which can ensure a safe and efficient level of service."

Partners John Roberts and Gerry Smith said: "Whiskers LLP is delighted to have secured CQS status. It is recognition of the high standards we provide to our residential property clients and is a signal to future home buyers of the excellent service level we provide at what is often a stressful time for many people"

New shop opens with a bang-er!

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A LONG with the Sunday roast and afternoon tea there is a commonly held conviction that queuing is a traditional part of the British culture.

But for these eager shoppers forming an orderly line outside a shop in Harlow town centre on a chilly day in the mid 1960s, there was a special reward for their patience . . . some free sausages!

"It was the opening of a new butchers in Terminus Street," explained Margaret Courtenay, of Sawbridgeworth, who had a copy of the picture safely stored away in a scrapbook.

"It was taken about 1965 or '66 and must have been a cold day judging from everyone's coats, though I am not sure what month exactly.

"Some people who have seen the picture have said they think it was Dewhursts, though again I am not certain.

"I do remember, however, that it was situated next to the original Tesco store at a time when Tesco used to give out Green Shield stamps."

Margaret, who thinks the photo was printed in the Harlow Citizen, can remember queuing for her sausages that day.

"You can see the butcher in the photo handing out coupons for the free pack of sausages as a special opening gesture," she said.

"I was living in Fold Croft at the time and my sister Joan and I were out shopping. Of course we thought 'why not' and can be seen near the door of the shop in our headscarfs.

"In front of me is my daughter Lynda who must have been about two then, and hiding in the big white pram was my son James, who was probably coming up to a year."

Although Margaret can't remember how long it took to reach the front of the queue that day, she does recall it all being worthwhile.

"They were lovely sausages," she said. "I remember they went down a treat with the whole family."

● Do you recognise anyone in the queue? Write to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

DO YOU REMEMBER? Great Parndon WI

WERE you a member of the Great Parndon Women's Institute back in the 1960s?

If you were, you may recognise a few familiar faces in this photograph of the group which is believed to have been taken during a visit to the neighbouring WI group in Roydon.

Colin Evans, of Berecroft, Harlow, brought in the picture. His mum Jean Evans, who sadly passed away recently, was the photographer that day.

"She was chairwoman of the group at the time of this photo which I think must have been taken around 1966," he said.

"The WI was a big social thing for the women then. I can remember them going on quite a few trips together like the theatre and even to Ascot one year.

"Mum stepped down from her position as chairwoman in the 1970s though as she got fed up of all the moans and groans!"

Regeneration project gets under way with the start of work on new homes

MORE than 40 new sustainable homes are to be built in Old Harlow as work starts on a council-backed neighbourhood regeneration project.

The construction of 43 'affordable' properties on a site in Station Road will comprise a mix of one- and two-bedroom apartments and two-, three- and four-bedroom houses, with 12 units allocated for social housing or shared ownership.

The work is being carried out by construction firm Denne in partnership with housing association Moat and Harlow Council. The development, which has been given the name The Mews at Old Harlow, should be completed by the summer of next year.

Councillor Russell Perrin, the council's portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise, said the development would help ease the burden on the council's housing register.

"Forty-three high-quality homes will be provided with six houses and six flats becoming new homes for people on the council's housing register.

"This new development, which is part of our programme to regenerate Harlow's neighbourhoods, will be in keeping with the area as we know that this is important to local residents."

Denne managing director Graham Brown added: "We are pleased to be continuing our work with Moat and Harlow Council by constructing sustainable, affordable housing in the area.

"We are sure that these houses will be popular with the local people and that they will make a big difference in the regeneration of Old Harlow."

Woman guilty of knife attack on MS sufferer

A WOMAN who attacked a multiple sclerosis sufferer in her wheelchair with a knife has been jailed for seven years.

Emily Hardiment (41), of Potters Field, Harlow, was described in court as behaving like a "crazy" woman after she turned up at the home of Trudy Lee in Fullers Mead brandishing a rolling pin and knife.

Miss Lee received a cut on the hand while her adult son, Nigel Walters, suffered a potentially life-threatening stab wound to the side of his body as well as cuts and lacerations.

Hardiment was found guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court of wounding Mr Walters with intent to cause grievous bodily harm, assaulting Miss Lee causing actual bodily harm, having an offensive weapon and causing criminal damage.

The court was told the attack was the result of a "perceived" incident in which Hardiment claimed her son had been threatened with a hypodermic needle.

Peter Gair, prosecuting, said Mr Walters had been visiting his mother and had gone to the local shops where he came across Hardiment's son.

Giving evidence, Mr Walters said: "I saw two males with pieces of wood which had nails in them. They started to follow me and said I was going to 'get it'."

"Later, after I got home, I heard a knock on the front door. Emily Hardiment was standing there. She was angry, very fidgety. She had a rolling pin in her hand. I shut the door and then she smashed a window.

"I went out to find out why and my mother followed me in her wheelchair. We went to the top of the road, she [Hardiment] pulled out a knife, she went for my mum and I went to help my mum.

"I struggled with her a little bit and I managed to get the rolling pin and struck her with it. She cut my mum's wrist after my striking her made her mad. She caught me a couple of times; she was crazy."

Hardiment said she had gone peacefully to the house to sort out a problem, claiming Mr Walters had threatened her son with a syringe during the incident at the shops.

Justin Hugheston-Roberts, representing Hardiment, told the court: "She's had a lot of problems in her life, which has been blighted by drink and drugs."

Sentencing Hardiment to seven years, recorder John Caudle told her: "You decided to take the law into your own hands and went around armed with a knife and a rolling pin.

"Serious injury was caused and weapons were taken to the scene because of a perceived wrong to a member of your family and were used by you. It was a sustained attack."

ST ALBANS PRIMARY High achievers were recognised for their hard work when the First Avenue school held a prizegiving ceremony.

Four pupils from each class were chosen for their efforts throughout the last school year and each was presented with a certificate.

Several Year 6 pupils were also given special awards presented to the school by previous headteachers, including Jack Collins (pictured above) who was awarded Mrs Laraway's special award for citizenship, and Thomas Reynolds, who was awarded the Father Paul Boland Shield for service to the community

Deputy headteacher Peter Kuminek said: "We strive to maintain high standards and we realise it is very important to celebrate achievements."

"At the end of each academic year we have an awards assembly. We are extremely proud of our children's accomplishments."

HENRY MOORE PRIMARY The sky was the limit for children at the Kiln Lane school on Friday when hundreds of balloons were released to commemorate the school's 10th anniversary.

The youngsters had spent the day learning more about the school's history, looking at photographs taken during its construction and enjoying a slice of birthday cake designed by the winners of an end-of-term competition.

They also tucked into a picnic and played a mammoth game of pass the parcel involving all 570 pupils!

Headteacher Mary Evans said: "All the children had a fantastic time celebrating our 10th birthday. We all had lots of fun, especially during what must have been one of the world's biggest games of pass the parcel!"

"To round the day off, each child was given a special commemorative pin badge to wear on their uniform. It's certainly a day they won't forget in a hurry!"

HARLOW FIELDS SCHOOL Members of a local walking group who have produced a racy calendar to raise money for the Tendring Road school adhered to a strict dress code when they visited staff and pupils.

The Harlow Walking Group were given a tour of the school and shown some of the specialist equipment that will be purchased with money raised from the calendar sales.

Headteacher Sue Davis thanked the group for their fundraising efforts. "With the money raised we hope to purchase communication aids such as switches, talking books and personalised computer tablets to help our non-speaking youngsters communicate more successfully," she said.

Photographer Peter Gould said he was confident they would sell all 1,000 copies of the calendar priced at £4.50 each.

"We have received fantastic support so far and hope people will continue to help this great cause by having a Harlow Walking Group calendar on their wall for 2012."

Council criticised for delay dealing with complaints

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Council has been given a rap over the knuckles for its "poor" response times to enquiries and complaints.

Local Government Ombudsman Anne Seex, whose role is to act as a public watchdog, said she had received 42 enquiries and complaints about the council during 2010/11, most of which concerned housing.

Of those complaints, 21 were decided by the ombudsman including a case where a tenant had waited almost a year before the council took action against a neighbour for anti-social behaviour.

The authority was further criticised for the delay in making repairs to an unstable bedroom ceiling following a leak. As a result, the bedroom could not be used for 18 months causing "considerable inconvenience, frustration and distress to the complainant's family".

The council later admitted it was at fault and paid £4,500 in compensation.

Another case highlighted in the ombudsman's annual report concerned a problem with damp and mould in a family home. According to Ms Seex, the council "took a year longer than it should have done" to resolve the issue and later agreed to pay compensation of £1,250.

Ms Seex said in her report her role was to secure remedies for people affected by poor systems or mistakes and to encourage councils to learn from those mistakes.

"The experience of individual citizens can provide uniquely valuable insight into how council functions impact on people," she added.

"My annual review letter highlights issues arising from such complaints for the attention of elected councillors and the public. I hope that this will help councils to improve local public service delivery and benefit the wider community."

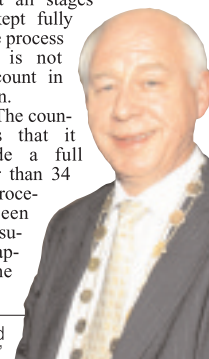

Eddie Johnson, deputy leader of Harlow Council and portfolio holder for governance, said delays often occurred because of the complexity of cases.

"The nature of the cases that are sent to us by the Local Government Ombudsman means that they require extensive investigation into them before a full response can be sent back," he explained. "This means that it can take longer than normal to respond to."

"However at all stages the LGO is kept fully informed of the process although this is not taken into account in their calculation."

He added: "The council recognises that it should provide a full response faster than 34 days and our procedures have been reviewed to ensure that this happens in the future."

EDDIE JOHNSON: "Cases need to be fully investigated before a formal response can be sent to the ombudsman"

The rhino that kept warm in a woolly coat

YOU may have heard of the woolly mammoth but did you know they were not the only prehistoric beasts to wrap up warm?

Woolly rhinos also had coats of thick fur to help them survive the bitter cold and a recently discovered fossil indicates these gentle giants may have walked the earth much earlier than originally thought.

Scientists studying the fossilised remains dug up in the foothills of the Himalayas in Tibet believe the creature could have lived around 3.6 million years ago, making it the oldest woolly rhino ever discovered.

The well-preserved fossil was found along with an extinct species of horse, antelope and snow leopard. Researchers believe the rhino would have used its horn to sweep snow out of the way to find food, a useful tool for survival in the harsh Tibetan climate.

Although the extinction of woolly mammoths and rhinos along with great sloths and sabre-tooth cats has been studied intensively in recent years, little is known about where they came from and how they came to adapt to life in a cold environment. But the new discovery of the ancient rhino supports the theory that the frosty Tibetan foothills of the Himalayas could have been the first home of these beasts that roamed northern Asia and Europe during the later ice ages.

Players to share their years of experience

ASPIRING actors can now hone their skills at a series of new adult drama classes being staged by Harlow's longest-running am-dram group. Moot House Players will run the weekly sessions on Wednesday evenings from the group's base at The Stow, with members helping participants with their speech, projection and stage craft. MHP chairman Geoff Leeds said: "We used to run classes very successfully some years ago but they have rather fallen by the wayside recently. "This is a chance for anyone interested in performing, whether newcomers or experienced, to benefit from the expertise of experienced performers. "Speech, projection and stage craft will be the priorities but the classes will have a relaxed and friendly atmosphere." The classes take place every Wednesday (with the exception of the first week in each month) at the Mark Hall & Netteswell Community Association based at Moot House. There will be a charge of £4 per class and participants will be required to join the community association. For further information, call (01279) 630170.

Evening of tricks . . . and treats

ENJOY an evening of mirth, magic and mayhem as one of the UK's best-loved entertainers and magicians dazzles the Playhouse with his hil-hair-ious new show on Wednesday night.

Perhaps the most successful TV magician of the 20th century, Paul Daniels visits Harlow with wife and assistant Debbie McGee and son Martin Daniels – also a successful magician – to perform his inimitable and irresistible brand of comedy magic in Hair Today, Gone Tomorrow.

Performing since the age of 11, the entertainer honed his skills wowing fellow servicemen with tricks during his period of national service before coming to the attention of TV producers in 1970 during a spot on Opportunity Knocks.

He was soon hosting his own show – The Paul Daniels Show – on the BBC alongside his glamorous assistant and wife-to-be Debbie McGee.

The show ran for 15 years and Paul became a national institution, going on to host a number of other TV shows including Every Second

By Chris Moss

Counts, Odd One Out, Wipeout and the fondly remembered Wizbit.

In recent years he has appeared on primetime shows including Da Ali G Show, Ant & Dec's Saturday Night Takeaway and Strictly Come Dancing, as well as entertaining the likes of Prince William, Prince Harry, The Sultan of Brunei and even former Prime Minister John Major.

Paul told the Star: "Of course, there will be truly baffling magic but most audiences are even more surprised by the amount of comedy.

"After the incredible success at the Edinburgh Fringe in August, I have brought in Martin to add more comedy and Debbie to add glamour magic.

"This is going to be a fast, funny, baffling and entertaining night out – and it's in 3D without glasses!"

Hair Today, Gone Tomorrow starts at 7.30pm on Wednesday. Tickets cost £18 (£16 concessions) from (01279) 431945 or online at www.playhouseharlow.com.

I SPY: Gary Oldman and John Hurt in TINKER, TAILOR, SOLDIER, SPY

TINKER, TAILOR, SOLDIER, SPY certificate 15, 2h07m

A NEW adaptation of Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy was always going to raise the hackles of John le Carré purists who adored the 1979 mini-series starring Sir Alec Guinness as taciturn spy George Smiley.

Tomas Alfredson's film could never compete on an equal footing with its BAFTA award-winning predecessor because you can't achieve the same depth of character and plot development in two hours as you can in seven episodes of television. But while scriptwriters Bridget O'Connor and Peter Straughan have had to truncate le Carré's novel, they retain the choking air of suspense that has us holding our breaths until the stunning final frame.

Control (John Hurt), the chief of a 1970s British Secret Intelligence Service unit known as The Circus, learns that Russian counterpart Karla has placed a mole within the ranks.

To unmask the traitor, Control despatches Jim Prideaux (Mark Strong) to Hungary but the agent is shot dead. So Control turns to trusted protegee Smiley (Gary Oldman) and shares intelligence about a possible double agent within the service.

Soon after, Control takes his own life, leaving Smiley to uncover the intrigues of the other Circus members: Percy Alleline (Toby Jones), Roy Bland (Ciaran Hinds), Toby Esterhase (David Dencik) and Bill Haydon (Colin Firth).

Aided by the young, ambitious Peter Guillam (Benedict Cumberbatch), Smiley searches for clues, leading to Circus researcher Connie Sachs (Kathy Burke) and missing operative Ricki Tarr (Tom Hardy).

Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy is intelligent filmmaking of the highest calibre, distinguished by tour de force performances from the predominantly British cast.

Oldman doesn't utter a word for what seems like an eternity but he commands every frame and must surely be a frontrunner for the Best Actor Oscar that has eluded him.

Cumberbatch is a worthy foil, while Jones, Hinds, Firth et al are excellent in support and Burke scene-steals with aplomb, delivering the best line of the entire film.

Alfredson's directorial brio ensures that while our nerves are racked, our eyes are dazzled with visually arresting scenes.

Pacing is deliberately slow and some audiences, who have been force-fed thrills at breakneck speed by Hollywood, may lose patience.

That would be a pity because once you surrender to Alfredson's vision, the knot of tension slowly tightens until we, like Smiley, are desperate to lure the double agent into the open.

Friends With Benefits Corporate headhunter Jamie (Mila Kunis) woos talented website director Dylan (Justin Timberlake) to New York with a view to securing his employment at a magazine. She shows him around the city and quickly wins him over. Since they both have wounded hearts, Jamie and Dylan agree that it would be perfectly acceptable to enjoy no-strings-attached sex without falling for each other. Dylan's work colleague Tommy (Woody Harrelson) and Jamie's mother Lorna (Patricia Clarkson) can see trouble on the horizon but the pair continue with their agreement, blind to the consequences.

Jane Eyre Jane Eyre (Mia Wasikowska) flees Thornfield Hall, where she has been employed as governess for Adele Varens (Settbon Moore), the young ward of Edward Rochester (Michael Fassbender). Stumbling across the moors, she seeks refuge with clergyman St John Rivers (Jamie Bell) and his sisters Diana (Holliday Grainger) and Mary (Tamzin Merchant). As Jane recuperates, she recalls her childhood and her time at Thornfield, where housekeeper Mrs Fairfax (Dame Judi Dench) welcomes her warmly. Mr Rochester falls under Jane's spell but he conceals a dark secret that could poison their relationship forever.

The Inbetweeners Movie As Will (Simon Bird), Neil (Blake Harrison) Jay (James Buckley) and Simon (Joe Thomas) wave goodbye to Rudge Park Comprehensive, they decide they need a proper lads' holiday in Crete to reinvent themselves. Of course, nothing goes according to plan - their accommodation is a hell-hole, they wind up in the saddest club on the resort strip, get into scrapes, get drunk and then get naked.

The Smurfs When the evil wizard Gargamel chases the tiny blue Smurfs out of their village, they tumble through a portal joining their magical world to ours. They end up in New York from where they must find their way home.

Mr Popper's Penguins The life of businessman Tom Popper (Jim Carrey) is changed after he inherits six penguins.

THE CHANGE-UP certificate 15 1h52m

OVERWORKED lawyer Dave Lockwood (Jason Bateman) is on the verge of securing the vice presidency at his firm. But dedication to his job has dulled his marriage to wife Jamie (Leslie Mann) and taken him away from his three children. Dave's best friend, Mitch Planko (Ryan Reynolds), is a fast-talking, jobbing actor who ricochets from one meaningless sexual encounter to the next.

One drunken night, the two bemoan their lots and proclaim "I wish I had your life." The next morning Dave and Mitch are trapped in each other's bodies and have no obvious way to change back.

Mitch as Dave must complete a multi-million dollar contract negotiation, while Dave as Mitch must star in an adult film directed by Valtan (Craig Bierko) and woo legal colleague Sabrina (Olivia Wilde).

I DON'T KNOW HOW SHE DOES IT certificate 12A 1h29m

KATE Reddy (Sarah Jessica Parker, left) is an executive at a Boston-based financial management firm who has successfully clambered up the corporate ladder, inspiring junior associate Momo Hahn (Olivia Munn).

Kate is the main breadwinner of her family: her architect husband Richard (Greg Kinnear) is looking for a new job so he can also provide for their young children.

Richard wins the job he has been pitching for on the very same day that Kate learns she has won a major new account that will necessitate frequent trips to New York to meet charming business associate Jack Abelhammer (Pierce Brosnan).

Kate's hectic schedule of mergers and bedtime stories suddenly got far more complicated.

Farmhouse with stunning views

coverproperty

Location Yewtree Farm, Saling Road, Stebbing

Category Five bedroom Georgian farmhouse

Additional Grounds of three acres, excellent outbuildings, many original features, stunning views

Guide price £950,000

Agent Wright & Co, 4-6 Church Street, Sawbridgeworth. Telephone (01279) 600400

YEWTREE Farm is one of those houses you can't help but love.

Standing in approximately three acres with a number of outbuildings in the grounds, this Georgian farmhouse uses the original features to their very best, allowing its generous proportions and large windows to flood the property with natural light.

This house has a lovely feel to it the minute you walk through the front door. The entrance hall has stairs to the first floor, a door to the cellar and a downstairs cloakroom.

Doors lead off to the elegant drawing room with windows to three aspects and a marble fireplace with raised stone hearth. The dining room has sash windows on two aspects, both with original working shutters.

There is also a study while the kitchen/breakfast room has an electric Aga and separate boot room.

Also on the ground floor is the sitting room with a large bay window overlooking the formal garden area.

The rear lobby has a door to the garden and another through to a bedroom with en-suite shower room.

Upstairs the first floor landing is half galleried with a window to the front. The master bedroom has an en-suite bath/shower room and there are a further three bedrooms – one with en-suite – and the family bathroom.

The property is approached via a five-bar gate with extensive parking at the front. An attractive stock brick wall with wrought-iron gateway leads to formal gardens and there is a large cart store with covered parking for approximately five vehicles with two large open bays and a central bay.

The large formal side garden has a paved entertaining area and is laid to lawn with well stocked borders, sweeping round to the rear of the building with a kitchen garden, a post and rail enclosed paddock in excess of two acres, three bay stable blocks, three bay garden store and workshop.

There is independent field access and a 1,500 sq.ft. former cowshed which at one time had planning permission for light industrial use.

Wright & Co has full details of this property. Call (01279) 600400 to find out more.

Tracey Waples
Property Editor

OUR fondness for open plan living certainly doesn't show any signs of abating.

We've come a long way since loft conversions and contemporary architecture first caught our imagination in the 1970s and today we're still creating free flowing spaces without the interruption of unnecessary internal walls and doors.

Whether we're buying from new or are converting existing properties, what the modern homeowner veers towards these days are spaces that merge seamlessly.

The trend is only reflecting today's lifestyles, yet not that long ago things couldn't have been more different. Everything was divided into boxes. One box for the sitting room, one for the dining room and one for the more formal drawing room.

These days most of us will admit to being pressed for time and so time spent together is more precious than ever.

Whereas once the kitchen may have been largely mum's domain, nowadays the same room is likely to play host to everyone. As the hub of the house, kitchens today will often have a TV, possibly a sofa and more than likely a laptop or two. Once a major event, the formal dinner party seems to have given way to the much less stressful 'kitchen supper' and so it doubles as a social setting, too.

And if many of the houses featured in Homes Now are anything to go by, added extras such as home cinemas no longer seem to be the preserve of the uber trendy or even the largest houses. More and more properties are including home cinemas – or media centres – as the hub for TV, hi-fi, MP3 delivery, computer games, digital radio and more.

This is all well and good but how about when we want to switch off and enjoy a little private time? We sub-divide our open plan space with retractable doors that can be produced when privacy or quiet is needed. Bi-fold door manufacturers have seen a huge jump in productivity as we continue to modernise our homes.

So if you were thinking of taking that wall down and allowing your kitchen to run seamlessly into the dining room, which in turn opens onto the patio which merges into your outside space, go for it. Done well, the chances are it'll be a future selling point.

Work, health, fitness, diet, and general organization remain very much in focus. With Mars and Venus egging another on, you can balance your approach to making changes, in such a way that they can be lasting and really helpful. With Mercury angling brilliantly to Pluto, your eye for detail can impress a boss. Call for more astral advice...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23

Deeply personal issues continue to dominate. Yet by the week's end, Venus moves into your sign signalling an exciting phase - especially for your love life. If you're a Scale that likes to work everything out, there can be times when you might need to put this to one side, let go and just trust in life's ability to provide. Call for your love scope in full...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21

This week's Full Moon may offer some challenges, but probably of the more positive kind. The chances are you are going to be very much in demand, so fitting everything and everyone in, more gripping can be the rub. This can however, be an excellent time to think carefully about learning and education. Night classes can appeal. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22

Your long term goals are not set in stone, and it can surprise you that some strands that seemed sure to go ahead, can wither away. However, the exciting thing is that new and more possibilities can emerge. This can also repeat itself around your friendships, with new alliances pepping things up brightly. Call now for more news...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21

You and a family member can talk excitedly about a small business. If this means you can fit commitments around childcare or other part-time jobs, you can be in your element. By nature you like flexibility, and this can complement that. A home improvement project can evolve, but you may also move altogether. Call your prediction line for more news...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21

Your self confidence can be your best asset. Use this to full effect. People can be inspired by what you say, and your leadership skills can shine through in all sorts of situations. If you are normally a little timid, this is your chance to change aspects of your life, through your go getting motivational approach. Think big. Call me for your in-depth forecast...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23

Life's buzzing, and this can see lots of interesting interaction. Sharing ideas can be fun, and you can find yourself capitalizing on skills and knowledge with technology. You might encounter someone who is just as bright and bubbly as you. Yet journeys can be affected by traffic hold ups and flight cancellations. Call me for more astral advice...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20

Your enterprising approach can stand you in excellent stead. And the more open minded you are, the more exciting things can unfold for you. However, to really capitalize, this requires you to move into areas you are unfamiliar with. At first this can seem daunting, but soon enough you will find your feet and flourish. Call now for more astral advice...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23

The wonderful thing about this week is that although some unexpected expenses may crop up for you, with the resources you DO have, you can show a real talent for juggling things astutely. This can see you do well from past time, effort and hard work, but also see you apply yourself diligently towards doing well in the future. Call for more...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19

Not all Aquarian's are particularly interested in materialism. Your love of people and humanity, often seems more important than how much money you have in the bank. However, that doesn't mean that you should feel guilty, if you DO try to improve your lot, and this is a week when you can grapple with doing so. Call for your financial scope...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23

You might encounter a tricky situation this week, a time when someone close to you might find it hard to appreciate all the exciting things that you are involved with. New look for a family favourite NISSAN struck gold when it launched the Qashqai. The market was already packed with compact 4x4 vehicles and Nissan's own X-Trail was one of the more successful ones, but people were buying these off-road-capable family cars with no intention of driving them off-road.

The Qashqai ditched any pretence that it might be suited to the occasional foray up a dried-out river bed and concentrated on riding and handling in a car-like manner for the road journeys owners would undertake.

Retaining the option of all-wheel-drive, the elevated driving position and the chunky design cues of the compact 4x4, Nissan's crossover was all the 4x4 most buyers needed and sales were brisk.

Now it has upped the game with the latest facelifted models in a number of areas that include provision of an eco-friendly stop-start system.

Driving experience

There's a wide choice of engines available to Qashqai customers with two diesels and two petrol powerplants to consider.

Nissan hasn't skimped when it comes to transmission choices either, the Qashqai being supplied with five and six-speed manual boxes, a six-speed auto option and even an advanced Constantly Variable Transmission (CVT).

The Qashqai drives in an assured manner on the road and feels more like a conventional family hatchback than a 4x4 with its supple suspension and absence of body roll.

The latest cars have revised

Nissan Qashqai
£16,495 - £26,745

suspension settings to improve things further in this area and refinement that's boosted by multi-layer insulation in the front bulkhead and a special soundproof windscreen.

The ALL-MODE 4x4 system is available on the 2.0-litre vehicles, with the others sending drive to the front wheels only. This is an electronic system which automatically engages four-wheel drive the moment a loss of traction is detected. It offers more safety and security in extreme weather on-road.

Nissan makes no bones of the fact that the Qashqai is anything but an off-roader, citing its lack of ground clearance. What precludes it from tackling rutted tracks makes it a better car on the blacktop, the hunkered down centre of gravity giving the Nissan its nimble feel.

Design and build

A more aggressive frontal styling treatment marks out the latest Qashqai from its pre-facelift forbear. Around the back, little has changed aside from subtle aerodynamic tweaks and LED lights. The cabin gains a revised instrument cluster with a trip computer display in that illuminates in white and a couple of extra storage options.

There are two Qashqai bodystyle choices, the standard model and a Qashqai+2 seven-seater variant. In the +2, everything behind the windscreen pillars is different. The wheelbase stretches by 135mm and the overall length rises by 211mm to 4,526mm.

To make sure that rear seat occupants don't feel too hemmed in, the roof line is reprofiled as well, adding 38mm to the car's height.

The middle row of seats splits 40/40/40 and the backrest reclines to no fewer than nine adjustment positions.

Market and model

The trim level range starts with the entry-level Visia before extending through the Acenta and N-Tec derivatives to the plush Tekna.

The N-Tec models are likely to prove particularly popular with their focus on technology built around Nissan Connect, a control system for the Qashqai's advanced technology features which brings Bluetooth connectivity, touch screen satellite navigation, a colour reversing camera, an MP3 compatible CD stereo and a USB interface for connecting MP3 players all together in a single interface.

The N-Tec models also get 18-inch alloy wheels, a panoramic glass sunroof, privacy glass, roof rails and an auto-dimming rear-view mirror. The Nissan Connect system also comes as standard with the Tekna models.

Nissan has built an enviable reputation for safety and the Qashqai incorporates a number of noteworthy features. Accurate electrically-assisted power steering, multi-link rear suspension and beefy anti-lock brakes with brake assist and electronic brakeforce distribution should well be enough to keep you out of a prang in the first instance. There's also the additional safety net of advanced ESP stability control.

Cost of Ownership

All Qashqai engines now conform to Euro V emissions regulations and Nissan has introduced a fashionable stop-start system as an option, which on the 1.6-litre petrol model reduces fuel consumption by three per cent and emissions to as little as 139g/km.

The 1.5-litre diesel is the Qashqai's most efficient engine with a 54.3mpg combined economy and emissions of 139g/km.

Further up the engine range, the kind of returns owners can expect will depend on their choice of 2WD or 4WD transmissions. With the heavier 4x4 cars, economy is one or two mpg worse, while the automatic gearbox offered with the 2.0-litre diesel blunts returns by another couple of miles in the gallon.

Summary

A simple idea, well-executed – that just about sums up the Nissan Qashqai.

The overwhelming majority of 4x4 vehicles are only used on the road in the UK and here's one that's designed specifically for precisely that sort of terrain.

These days, the Qashqai isn't alone in offering off-roader design on a road-biased chassis but in its latest guise it will still be better than most.

With good looks and a roomy cabin, the Qashqai is a fine option for buyers who'd rather not be saddled with a run-of-the-mill hatch or MPV. Handling is composed while the variety of engine, transmission and bodystyle options gives plenty of versatility within the range. Strong equipment levels and robust build complete a well-rounded family car package.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Duo are merry men at Robin Hood test

JARED Bethell and Robin Pope both produced personal best distance times at Nottingham's Robin Hood Marathon.

Bethell finished in a fantastic 6th place out of 1,405 finishers in 2 hrs, 46 mins and 40 secs, improving his marathon PB by 3 minutes.

Harlow Running Club colleague Pope was 354th in 3:48.45, beating his PB by more than 10 minutes.

The marathon took in landmarks such as the City Ground, home of former European running champions Nottingham Forest FC, Meadow Lane, home of Notts County FC and Trent Bridge, the home of Nottinghamshire County Cricket Club.

Bethell had finished in an excellent 3rd place out of 266 finishers in 36.17 at the Takeley 10K the previous week.

He was followed home by Pasquale Pellecchia (27th and 1st Vet 60, 44.45), John Bull (28th in 44.47), Dionne Jones (34th and 1st Vet 35, 45.46) and Sharon Wright 44th in 46.39.

Other Harlow places and times were: 37th Paul McFarlane 45.58; 47th Graham Pugh 46.51; 53rd Martin McColgan 47.32; 55th Jon Steadman 47.43; 114th David Page 53.32; 116th Janice Page 53.37; 165th Linda Hawkins 59.28; 214th Clair Sullivan 64.50.

● AT the Flora 5K in Hyde Park, London, 15-year-old Isobel Moss (Passmores School) produced a superb run. Out of 14,000, she was 46th in 21.18, some 70 seconds faster than her time last year.

She was the 2nd fastest U-20 to finish.

Athlete working hard to achieve Paralympics dream

By DAVID RIMMER

david.rimmer@hertssexnews.co.uk

DREAMS are often self-indulgent, but Anne Wafula Strike has a great chance of her 2012 Paralympic Games vision being fulfilled.

The 42-year-old wheelchair racer, from Willowfield in Harlow, is desperate to be selected for the London showpiece next year.

Wafula Strike, who was born in Nairobi, got the taste for Paralympics after she represented her home country Kenya in 2004 and qualified for the 400m final.

Following her application for British citizenship in 2006, she switched allegiance to Team GB.

She said: "For me to make the Great Britain team will be a big dream come true.

"People might dream of a new car or graduating, but I want to make the team."

She added: "It would be a privilege. I want to be on the starting line for the games. I have to keep going."

Strike, who is paralysed from the chest down, trains hard at Mark Hall Sportcentre in Harlow four times a week and is a popular figure there.

She has rounded the season off promisingly and has hit form at just the right time – with Paralympics qualification in the T54 category (an athlete who is completely functional from the waist up), in which she competes, drawing near.

Wafula Strike needs to clock 18.3 seconds in the 100m and 60secs in the 400m.

There will be no 200m event

CAPITAL GAINS: Anne Wafula Strike training hard at Mark Hall Sportcentre

(HSP0709849)

in the T54 category at the 2012 London Paralympics.

Wafula Strike clocked 18.84s in the 100m and 1 min 1.92s at the London Disability Grand Prix at Crystal Palace in August. She later clocked an excellent 17.72s in the 100m at the Swiss Open.

The athlete was pleased with her efforts, but knows things can change.

She said: "I missed out on 2008 [Beijing Paralympics]. I had a shoulder injury. It has made me even hungrier to get picked for the team [in 2012].

"You can have it all and then it is taken away from you."

Mentally strong and articulate, Wafula Strike is determined to set a good example.

She is acutely conscious of her status as a role model in African countries such as Uganda, Kenya and Malawi.

"They saw this black girl who was doing well and that motivated them to take up wheelchair racing. That is my biggest victory," she explained.

"Some are on the route to qualifying [for the Paralympics in London 2012]. It will be good to see them."

She added: "It will be good to see and look at what they have done. It's like being the farmer and sowing the seed."

Wafula Strike is hoping to attract some sponsorship to help secure her Paralympics dream. A pair of gloves cost around £120 and a new wheelchair will cost at least £2,000.

There are also travel costs for attending athletics meetings and training, but the athlete has vowed to keep going either way.

Even taxi fares to and from her home to the sports centre cost £80 per week.

She receives excellent support from her husband Norman.

Her experienced coach Ken Day is confident about her prospects.

He said: "She has a strong chance of being selected [for the Paralympics]. She has done very well this year. She is really up for this."

● ANYONE interested in sponsoring Anne Wafula Strike, should call her management team, the 3003 Group on 0207 708 8670.

Ex-Mexico star spices up training session

A COACHING session from a former Mexican Premier League footballer spiced up proceedings for players at a Harlow youth soccer club. Goalkeeper Jorge Kuriyama, who played for the Mexico U-18 international team in his younger days, spoke to young custodians and watched intently the coaching sessions organised by Summers Youth FC chairman Andi Pearce at Passmores School in Tracys Road last Wednesday.

Kuriyama then headed by plane to Manchester to observe some coaching sessions run by the Manchester United academy.

Kuriyama, who retired in 1998 after playing in the top Mexican division for 13 years, is now a goalkeeper coach and works for Nike Japan.

He starred for Cruz Azul, one of the most successful Mexican teams, and Atlanta in the capital Mexico City. Kuriyama, now lives in Tokyo, and has coached in Japan for the last 13 years.

Kuriyama was amazed at the difference in the youngsters he coaches in Japan and the boys in Harlow, who were mainly 9- and 10-year-olds.

"The boys over here are much more creative, whereas the youngsters in Japan tend to be much more disciplined and will only do what ever you tell them. The English boys have a lot more initiative," he said. Kuriyama was invited to help at the sessions in Harlow by Pearce, a youth coach for Arsenal, when they met when the latter went over to the Far East with the Gunners for a coaching course earlier this year.

Kuriyama speaks three languages including English, Japanese and his native Spanish. He moved to Japan with his stepfather, who is Japanese, in 1998.

Cougars show bite

RISDEN Wood FC U-12 Cougars earned some silverware when they won the prestigious Trinity FC football tournament in Southend.

Thirteen teams took part in the competition and the Harlow side played some stunning football in winning the final 2-0.

The first goal was scored by Alfie Babb with a near post header from a corner.

The second goal was a 20-yard strike by Bayley Gasson.

Earlier, the Cougars were unbeaten in the group stages and conceded only one goal.

Team captain for the day, Tom Middleditch, said: "This was a great start to the season."

Cougars play in division one of the Mid Herts Youth Football League.

Late leveller stuns Hawks

Bossu pulled off brilliant save to keep out a header from ex-Hawks player Joe Stevens on the half-hour mark.

Bossu then dived well to tip round a low shot from Jon Moore.

Chapman said: "Bossu is the best keeper in this league – and the two leagues above it."

"We did not work hard enough in the first half and they played round us. We did better when we went to 3-4-3 in the second half."

Harlow went ahead on 49 minutes. A Docker corner from the left resulted in Getro Kilapi volleying home after his late run into the visitors' box was not picked up by the defence.

Although Harlow were more solid than in the first half, the Enfield defence gave Rhys Henry and home debutant Piers Wixon no change.

At the other end, Enfield's crosses into the box were thwarted by the assured figure of Bossu.

The last few minutes were nervy for Harlow before Wallace popped up to fire in the equaliser.

HARLOW TN: BOSSU 8, Taylor 6 (Bruno 74), Haverson 6, Gledhill 7, Kirby 7, Kilapi 6, Marshall 6, Lalite 6, Wixon 5 (Bunn 67), Docker 6, Henry 5. Subs not used: Mitchell, Wheeler, Dumoulin. Booking: Bunn (foul).

Att: 193.

Bruno can be knockout

>> Continued from back page will probably be out for two weeks after fracturing a thumb. He also sprained tendons in his right arm during the 2-1 win at AFC Sudbury.

This match also saw left-sided player Mark Taylor pick up a red card and he will be ruled out for the matches against Waltham Forest (Saturday September 24), Tilbury (Tuesday September 27) and Soham Rangers (Saturday October 1).

Chapman also revealed that striker James Peagram is unlikely to be available for the home match against Great Wakering Rovers this Saturday.

"He is suffering from a virus and was told by a doctor to have five days' rest," Chapman said on Wednesday. "He did not feel that great yesterday when I spoke to him. He is unlikely [to be fit]."

Late winner conjures top scalp for 10 men

A 94TH-minute winner from Rhys Henry completed a remarkable fightback for 10-man Harlow Town at AFC Sudbury.

Hawks were trailing 1-0 on Saturday when they had wing-back Mark Taylor sent off for a bad tackle on Ryan Henshaw.

Substitute Luke Marshall equalised on the hour mark and then set up Henry to fire in the winner.

In winning, Harlow also put the disappointment of being knocked out of the FA Cup the week before behind them.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman was angered by the Taylor dismissal. He said: "I noticed that their guy got up straight away after Mark was sent off."

"We could have felt sorry for ourselves and lied down and lost 2-0 or 3-0 or 4-0. We did something about it. We played better with 10 men than 11 men!"

Harlow were without midfielder Danny Brown after he sustained an ankle injury in training. Defender Lamar Lemonius, who picked up an ankle injury in the FA Cup tie, was also absent.

Harlow suffered a further blow when wing-back Cormac Hegarty sustained a broken thumb and went off after 15 minutes.

The first half was a flat affair with neither goal being seriously threatened often, although Bertrand Bossu finger-tipped a Richard Howell shot over the bar.

Harlow went behind on 49 minutes. Robbie Martin played a one-two with Howell before the former shot home.

Chapman said: "We came out better in the second half, but then gave a sloppy goal away."

After going down to 10, Harlow equalised on 69 minutes. Sub Luke Marshall cut in from the left before tucking the ball under the Sudbury keeper Danny Gay for an excellent individual goal.

It was beginning to look like a draw, but Harlow conjured a goal late on.

Marshall was allowed space and crossed for Henry to finish from the edge of the box.

Chapman added: "It was a massive result. Our attitude was excellent. We could not have asked for any more."

HARLOW TN: Bossu, Kirby, Gledhill, Haverson, Taylor (sent off 60), Gilapi, Lalite, Docker (Mitchell 85), Wixon, Henry, Hegarty (Marshall 15). Sub not used: Dumoulin. Att: 258.

Eastern promise in Rams' opener

Harlow 38, East London 3

RFU London & SE, division three north east

A LOT of boxes were ticked as Harlow registered an emphatic home victory over a plucky East London side.

The Rams suffered a disastrous season last term and were relegated, but set a few important markers down in their opening London division three north east match on Saturday.

Harlow conceded not a single point and scored six tries, which earned them a bonus point.

East London were no walkovers and made the Rams work hard for everything they got.

The hosts also tackled well and showed good fitness, while scrum-half Rhys Powell provided calmness and direction behind a dominant pack.

Harlow's senior coach Lee Harron said: "We are moving in the right direction. We won the last game last season and have had a good pre-season, but we must keep our feet on the ground."

"We were playing against a side that has just been promoted into this division."

Both teams enjoyed pressure without scoring before the deadlock was broken on 30 minutes.

Winger Will Grimley exploited an overlap to touch down.

(HSP0768749)

Seven minutes later, concerted home pressure was rewarded when wing Simon Vanbeck scored a try.

Fly-half Michael Dobson kicked the conversion and Harlow led 12-0 at half-time.

The second half saw some scintillating Harlow rugby with backs and forwards combining well and off-loading to put each other in space.

From one such move, Kane Claridge was released to score an unconverted try on 43 minutes.

This was almost Claridge's last act as he went off to protect an injured shoulder five minutes later.

There was a lull in the scoring, but the gaps started to appear and Harlow scored two tries on 56 and 58 minutes.

Harlow's fourth try was scored by Dobson from an overlap and the fifth was touched down by Luke Bowering again after concerted pressure.

Both conversions were kicked by Dobson and Harlow led 31-0.

Harlow went down to 14 for 10 minutes after Vanbeck was sin-binned on the hour mark for persistent infringements.

Back to a full complement, Harlow's superior fitness told and they scored another try on 75 minutes through league debutant Werner Kotze, who had only been on as sub for just a minute.

Dobson kicked the conversion.

Harron added: "A lot of what we had worked on in training worked well, but we have work to do on our line-outs and the breakdown areas."

HARLOW: Mackie, Grimley, Heapy, L. Bowering (Kotze 74), Vanbeck, Dobson, Powell, Roze (Cunningham 60), Mallia, Stonehouse, Eynon, Twinner, Roberts, Claridge (Hawkins 43) M. Bowering.

Karrs in gear

A NEW youth football club in Harlow has received valuable backing from two local companies.

KARRS Youth FC, which is based at Summers Leisure Centre, has two brand new teams starting this season in the West Essex & East Herts Youth Football League.

The teams are sponsored by newly-formed local companies, KM Electrical wholesale and OSW Bouncy castles. They have supplied the playing kit.

The U-7 age group will play in an exhibition league (friendly matches) and the older one will be play in the U-9 division.

Both teams have been put together after the boys attended a number of football coaching courses at a local development centre with KARRS Soccer Coaching.

Defeat for Street

THE Bishop's Stortford, Stansted & District Football League kicked off at the weekend and Potter Street suffered a narrow 4-3 loss at home to North Weald reserves in a division one thriller.

James Clark, Paul Nunn and Nigel Forde netted for the hosts.

Dean Fitch (3) and Brad Potter scored for Weald.

There were premier division wins for both Hertfordshire Rangers and Sheering. Rangers won 4-1 at Heath Rovers reserves.

Sheering crushed Albury 4-0 at home.

Other results:- Prem div: Frontiers w/o v Birchchanger (unable to raise a side); North Weald 5 (Matt Clarke 3, Michael Fishenden, Frank Major), Avondale Rangers 3.

Div one: Lower Street 4, Frontiers res 2; Northolt 2, Sheering res 2; Hatfield Heath 4, Dunmow Rhodes 4.

● ALEMITE Athletic kicked off their new season in the Hertford & District League premier division with a 5-1 home win over Bury Rangers.

Cook blasted in a hat-trick for the side, now based at Paringdon Sports Centre. Poole also netted twice. In division one, Alemite reserves lost 1-0 at Nazeing.

Hockey draw

AN encouraging 0-0 draw was recorded by Harlow in a the club's first match at their new home in Sawbridgeworth against Ipswich & East Suffolk.

Ipswich were tough opponents, but on the few occasions Harlow's defence was breached, keeper Shaun Hastler was up to the mark.

At the other end Andrew Boughtwood and Ben Light showed their skills and pace in patches, but the Ipswich keeper was rarely troubled.

Reece Boughtwood netted for Harlow seconds when they won 1-0 against Waltham Forest at Walthamstow Academy in a friendly on Saturday.

The league season begins on Saturday September 24.

Bauer's discus win

ATHLETE Dave Bauer rounded off the season with good performances at the final Eastern Veterans League match.

The indomitable Harlow Athletic Club member, who was representing Chelmsford at Bedford on Sunday, won the discus event with a throw of 38.14m.

He also came second in the hammer (33.62m).

Harlow's Paul Avontuur threw a season's best of 9.00m for third in the shot put and was part of a medley relay team in 4th.

Big victory for U-15s

HARLOW Rugby Club's U-15 side recorded a thumping 50-0 win at Dagenham in a friendly.

The visitors scored five tries in each half, but none were converted in the blustery conditions on Sunday.

Charlie Robinson scored a hat-trick of tries and two were scored by Charlie Richards.

Harlow's other tries came from Daniel Stevenson, Shakur Dixon-Chenniss, Adam Seeley, Eddie Marriott and Jack Christy.

New dawn for hockey club

Players debut at fantastic new home in Sawbridgeworth

By DAVID RIMMER
david.rimmer@hertsessexnews.co.uk

IT was the end of an era and the start of a new beginning as hockey players forced to quit Harlow started life outside the town.

Harlow Hockey Club has moved to plush new facilities at Leventhorpe School in Sawbridgeworth.

Harlow had to switch from its old ground at the old Passmores School, where it had played since late 2001 after an artificial surface was constructed.

Harlow's stay of more than nine years at the Tending Road facility came to an end when Passmores switched to its new home on the old Brays Grove school site in Tracyes Road.

Harlow's switch to Leventhorpe came after other venues including Bishop's Stortford College and Broxbourne Hockey Club had been explored.

The men's first team were the first to use the pitch at Leventhorpe with a friendly last Saturday.

Harlow's first and second men's teams will play respectively in division four south east and division six south east of the East Men's Hockey League this forthcoming season.

The women's first and second teams will play in the premier and fourth divisions of the Essex Women's League.

The hockey club's new coach, Richard Norris, is eager to put the problems in finding a new pitch behind it.

He said: "It will come down to hard work and teamwork. Having had real problems in trying to get a pitch to play on, Harlow can start to concentrate on the playing side."

In a season of change for the club, formed more than 30 years ago, a new kit is on the way and chairman Robert Gotobed wants a new start on and off the pitch.

He said: "Football has got the RESPECT campaign and we are looking to do a similar thing at the club."

"Dissent will not be tolerated, the players know it and we will advise the umpires that the committee will back them if they want to use cards to punish it on the pitch."

There are also changes on the playing front for the men's first team.

Left-wing Craig Cholerton has returned to Harlow after a period playing for Bishop's Stortford.

Ex-Stortford player Ben Braund has joined Harlow. He can play anywhere in the back line.

Late leveller stuns Hawks

Harlow Tn 1, Enfield Tn 1
Ryman League, division one north

THE Hawks were agonisingly close to a home win when an equaliser was scored by Enfield Town in the fourth minute of injury-time, writes DAVID RIMMER.

Harlow Town were leading 1-0 and looking reasonably solid under late Enfield pressure with a minute left on Tuesday.

Then a long ball was pumped down the middle and Jack Haverson failed to clear it.

Adam Wallace nipped in, took a touch and fired across goal past the despairing dive of Hawks keeper Bertrand Bossu.

Harlow boss Danny Chapman said: "Our back three and Bertrand Bossu had done well. It was a loss of concentration and Jack is devastated about it."

"To be fair their guy [Wallace] had a bit to do and finished well."

There were some grumbles about whether the referee should have blown up for full-time before it was scored, but Chapman brushed this aside.

The philosophical Harlow's manager said: "To be fair the ref had said it was four minutes and some people said that it was in the fifth minute, but we did not defend it properly. It was a fair result over 90 minutes."

Harlow were without skipper Danny Brown and defender Lamar Lemonius through ankle injuries, but started brightly.

On seven minutes, an unmarked Leon Lalite nodded an inviting Jon Docker cross wide from eight yards at the far post.

However, the hosts lost their way

INJURIES to defender Lamar Lemonius and skipper Danny Brown, left, have hit Harlow Town, but boss Danny Chapman has been cheered by the arrival of midfielder Tom Bruno.

Bruno was on loan at Harlow from Braintree, when they were in Conference South last year.

He has joined after a short stint at Ryman premier club Concord Rangers.

Bruno showed a lot of energy and desire when he came on as a substitute in the 1-1 draw against Enfield Town on Tuesday (see report right).

Chapman said: "The timing was wrong with him when he was here last year. We could only have so many players on loan."

"He has an unbelievable engine and his enthusiasm is incredible. We're really pleased he has come on board."

He could be excellent for us." Chapman expects Lemonius (ankle) to be out for two weeks, but has enough defenders. "We have the likes of Ryan Kirby, Lee Gledhill and Jack Haverson. Christian Wheeler can also come in," he said.

However, Chapman is uncertain about the length of time influential former Leyton Orient midfielder Brown will be ruled out.

"He did the training session and when he woke up the next morning the ankle [on his right foot] was like a balloon," he said.

"We're unsure what it is. I do not know how long it will be. There was no crack or break when he had an X-ray yesterday [Tuesday]. It's looking like it will be ligament damage."
